Introduction

Over the last decade accountable care organizations (ACOs) have emerged as a major force in the way healthcare is delivered in this country. The ACO model, comprised of doctors, hospitals, and other healthcare providers, aims to provide a structure for better coordinated, more efficient care, and by doing so, reduce overall healthcare expenditures.

Although various forms of “accountable care” have existed for decades, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) has been a significant force in driving the development of the modern ACO structure and the promulgation of this payment arrangement nationwide. Today, Medicare fee-for-service (FFS) ACOs exist in every state, representing a wide variety of provider arrangements. As of January 2021, there were 477 Medicare Shared Savings Program (MSSP) ACOs operating in all 50 states and the District of Columbia, serving just over 10.7 million Medicare beneficiaries;<sup>1</sup> additional beneficiaries are aligned with non-MSSP ACO related organizations such as Next Generation ACOs.

Given that MSSPs represent such a large portion of the Medicare FFS landscape, it is worthwhile to look at the available data for how ACOs have performed and evolved over time. We can then use this data to better understand what MSSP features may be associated with financial success. It is just as important to see what factors are not correlated with success or failure in the program.

In order to provide insights on these drivers, this report analyzes and summarizes the calendar year (CY) 2020 experience for ACOs under MSSP as reported by the 2020 Shared Savings Program (SSP) ACO Public Use Files (PUFs), published by CMS.<sup>2</sup> This report also references previous PUFs, from 2015-2019, to highlight key MSSP trends and patterns in shared savings/loss rates, participation, and other key metrics.

The year 2020 was a very unusual year due to the COVID-19 pandemic, and ACO financial results may have been materially impacted by the pandemic as well as CMS’s modifications to MSSP rules and regulations.<sup>3</sup> Due to the potential for skewed results, as well as to highlight potentially longer-term observations, all of the exhibits we present relating to savings will show more than just 2020 savings outcomes. We discuss this in further detail later in the paper.

A full list of ACOs included in our analysis is provided in Appendices 1 and 2. Some ACOs may be excluded from our analysis for the following reasons:

- The ACO participated in a non-MSSP Medicare model, such as Next Generation, Pioneer, or Direct Contracting.
- The ACO did not participate in any Medicare model (such as a Commercial only ACO).
- The ACO was new to MSSP in 2021, or terminated before 2015.

To avoid having results from various markets affect the comparisons, this analysis excludes all non-Medicare results for ACOs that participate in multiple lines of business such as commercial or Medicaid.

The primary purpose of this report is to provide relevant, timely, and useful information about the state of the MSSP ACO market. Results are summarized on a composite basis for all ACOs except where otherwise noted. This report also highlights differences between various types of ACOs where relevant.

The primary financial metric analyzed for this report is the gross savings rate. The gross savings (or losses) represents the total dollars saved (or lost) against CMS’s benchmarks. This is distinct from the net savings that represent the portion of the gross savings shared with the plans, which depends on the tier, quality rating, and other factors. In this paper we will use “gross savings” and “savings” interchangeably; net savings will be explicitly referred to as such where relevant.<sup>4</sup>

<sup>4</sup> From the PUFs we use as gross savings the variable “sav_rate,” which CMS defines as “Total Benchmark Expenditures Minus Assigned Beneficiary Expenditures as a percent of Total Benchmark Expenditures.”

Additional selected metrics focus primarily on values that underlie or correlate with the savings rates. The methodology and formulas behind these metrics are documented by CMS.<sup>5</sup>

The body of this report contains summarized results of our analysis. The following appendices provide additional data that may be of interest to report users:

Appendix A provides a list of each MSSP ACO in the PUFs between 2015 and 2020, along with their CMS-provided ID, their state(s), initial start date, and risk track for each of 2015 through 2020.

Appendix B provides a list of each ACO, along with their 2020 beneficiary count, provider count, quality score, average population risk score, benchmark, and savings rate.

The MSSP ACO market

Every year, some number of ACOs join and leave the MSSP market. Figure 1A shows the total number of ACOs in the market in each year from 2015 through 2020, as well as the total number of ACOs who joined, stayed, or left MSSP. We also show summaries for Track 1 (upside only) and all Non-Track 1 (upside and downside risk) ACOs.

We can also examine the movement in ACOs based on risk track. Through 2019, the majority of all MSSP ACOs were participating in a Track 1 (upside only) model.

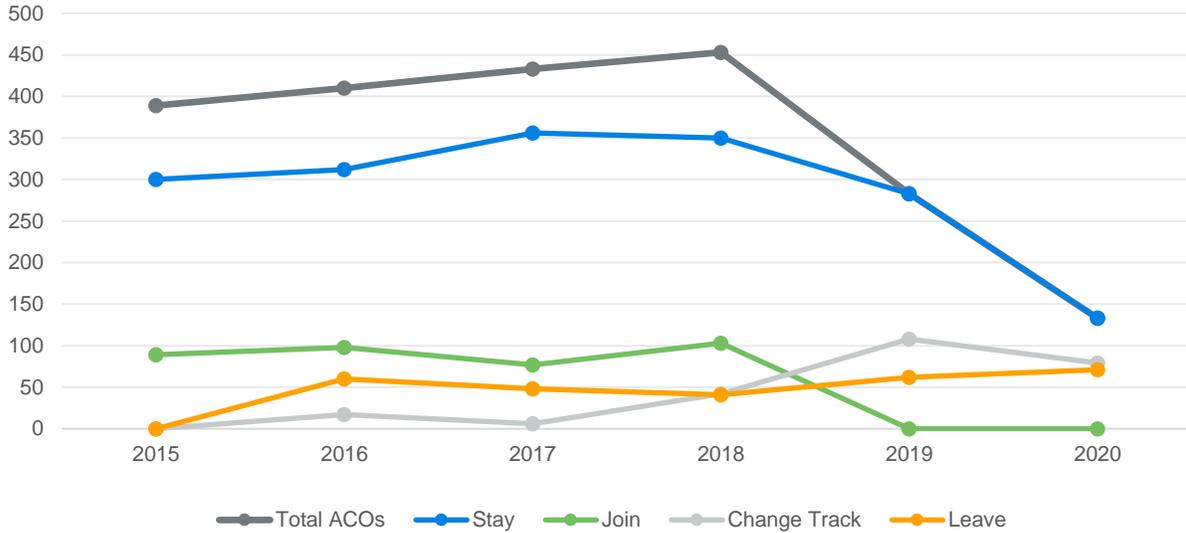

However, from 2019 onward, MSSP has seen a rapid shift away from the Track 1 model. This is due to two factors:

1. The original MSSP rules stated that ACOs could only remain in Track 1 for six years, meaning that the oldest ACOs were required to leave Track 1.
2. The Pathways to Success program required that all new or renewing ACOs had to apply for a Basic or Enhanced track starting in 2019; as ACO contracts were set for three years before the introduction of Pathways to Success, renewing ACOs had to depart Track 1 in 2019, 2020, and 2021 (the latter of which will be reflected in the 2021 PUF, which will be released in 2022).

We track these shifts in the Figure 1B, which shows the same chart as 1A, but only for Track 1 ACOs. Completing the picture of stay/join/leave is a new line charting the number of Track 1 ACOs that changed tracks. Note that for 2019-2020, the “Stay” and “Total ACOs” line overlap, since there are no more joiners due to the restriction on new applicants for PY2020.

In addition to Track 1, two of the new Pathways to Success tracks, Basic A and Basic B, are also upside only. We can therefore follow the rate of upside only ACOs, inclusive of these two new tracks. Figure 1C shows these trends. Even including Basic A and Basic B, the number of ACOs in upside-only tracks has been substantially declining, though the two figures combined demonstrate that many ACOs have transitioned from Track 1 to either Basic A or Basic B.

While there has been an overall decrease in the number of ACOs participating in the MSSP program between 2018 and 2020, most of this decrease in participation has been driven by ACOs in upside-only risk tracks (Track 1) leaving the program, possibly to avoid taking on downside risk under the Pathways to Success model.

The number of ACOs that are already participating in some form of downside risk (see Figure 1D) has been growing steadily over time (with minimal withdrawals) and has grown significantly since the introduction of the Pathways to Success model where MSSPs are transitioned over time to taking on downside risk.

We can also observe that the rate of ACOs with two-sided risk leaving the program has steadily declined; the total number of leavers has been relatively flat year to year from 2017-2020, even as the total number of participants has rapidly increased. The inverse pattern can be observed in the upside-only tracks; from 2018-2020, the number of leavers increased, even as the total number of remaining ACOs in upside only has shrunk.

As noted above, we can segregate MSSPs based on the level of downside risk taken. In addition to breaking out upside only, we have organized MSSPs separately based on the level of downside risk taken as follows:

- No risk: No shared losses or downside risk (i.e., upside only)
- Low risk: Maximum shared losses at or below 10% of benchmark
- High risk: Maximum shared losses above 10% of benchmark

We provide additional detail in Figure 2A.<sup>6</sup>

Max Losses as % of Benchmark	n/a	4%	5-10%	15%	n/a	1%	2%	4%	15%

Using these categories, we can also observe the changing distribution between MSSP risk levels through 2020.

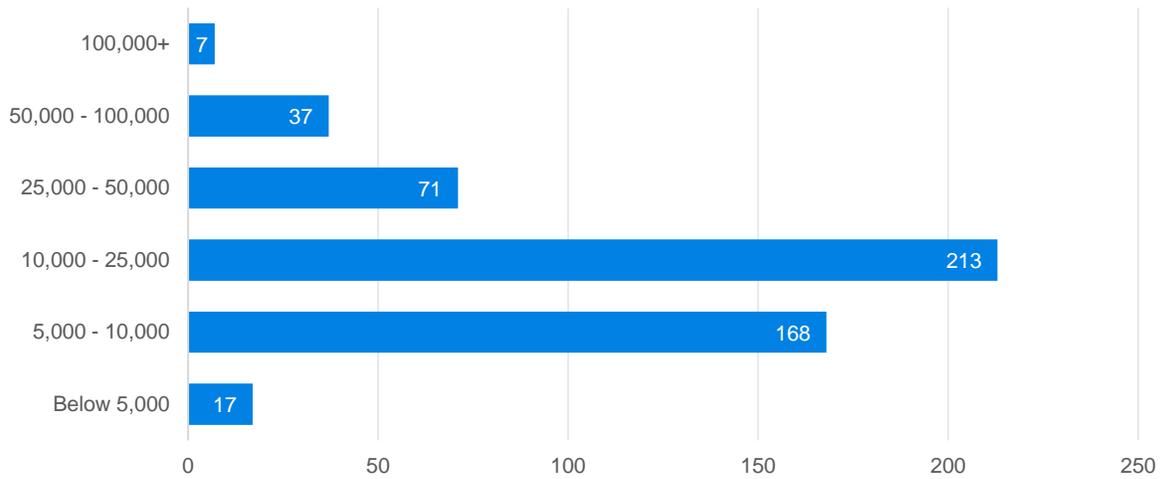

As with Figures 1C and 1D, we observe an expansion of risk-taking ACOs over time, either as a result of program requirements to move toward taking downside risk or ACOs being more inclined to take downside risk with greater upside potential. We also note that there has been substantial growth in the low-risk track MSSPs and high-risk track MSSPs beginning in 2018 and 2016, respectively.

In addition to distribution across risk tracks, ACOs can vary substantially in terms of numbers of members served, with most ACOs having between 5,000 and 25,000 beneficiaries in 2020. Figure 3 shows the number of ACOs by 2020 membership levels.

<sup>7</sup> The count of providers defined in the PUFs is “based on the ACO’s certified participant list used in financial reconciliation and information in the Medicare Provider Enrollment, Chain, and Ownership System (PECOS).” This count of providers is on a per-NPI basis.

Gross savings rates

The remainder of this report focuses on gross savings rates for ACOs. We first discuss high-level data on ACO savings rates; subsequent sections will discuss observations and correlations around these savings rates.

In our savings rates exhibits, we primarily focus on 2020, with 2018 shown as a comparison point. We add a comparison point because we consider it realistic that some of the 2020 savings results will be materially impacted by COVID-19 such that 2020 is less indicative of overall ACO trends. We decided to compare against 2018 instead of 2019 due to the large number of ACOs joining and leaving the program mid-year as CMS introduced Pathways to Success.

DISTRIBUTION OF ACO SAVINGS RATES BY YEAR

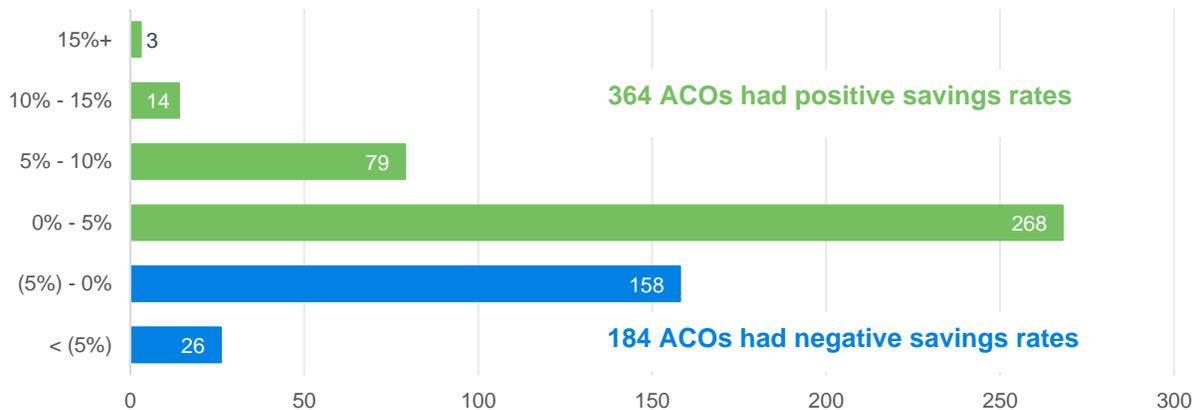

On average, ACOs have generated savings (compared to the benchmark) over time, and 2020 is no exception. In 2020, the average savings rate across ACOs was 3.7%. This savings rate represents a composite across ACOs, with considerable variances by individual ACO. Figures 5A and 5B summarize the number of ACOs within ranges of savings rates specific to 2020 and 2018, respectively.

In 2020, 83% of all ACOs reported positive savings, and 37% had savings above 5%. Both values represent a substantial shift against 2018 as shown in Figure 5B.

AVERAGE SAVINGS RATES BY YEAR

Savings rates for specific ACOs have varied between performance years, but the overall MSSP trend is that ACOs are generating increased savings over time. Figure 6 summarizes the average savings rate by year; while the 2020 savings rate may have been materially improved by COVID-19 impacts on claims, the longer-term pattern in savings has been relatively steady and positive. As low-performing ACOs exit the program and remaining ACOs improve their ability to manage care and expenditures, the average savings rate has increased.

Additionally, we observe a steadily decreasing share of ACOs with losses from 2015 onwards. We also observe an increasing share of ACOs with 5% or higher gains starting in 2019, predating the COVID-19 pandemic. Figure 7 illustrates these patterns.

Observations on gross savings rates

In this section, we show the distribution of achieved savings rates based on various characteristics, such as size, revenues, risk scores, and quality scores. These exhibits illustrate the variability that exists in the ACO space. Additional data underlying the results is provided in the Appendices to allow for user reference and benchmarking purposes. As noted earlier in the paper, due to the potential for the COVID-19 pandemic to skew 2020 results, and the potential skew on 2019 results due to Pathways to Success shifting the timing of around new ACOs and changes in tracks, we display results and observations for both 2020 and 2018.

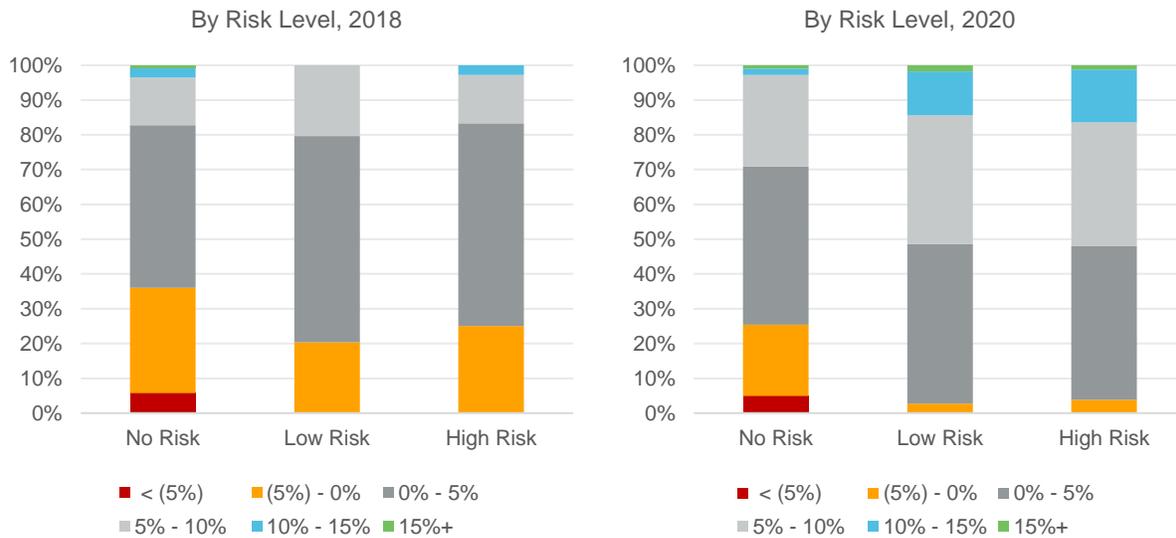

An earlier Milliman study performed statistical analyses on a number of plan characteristics, including factors outside the PUF files, against the 2019A PUF data <sup>8</sup>. This analysis can reasonably be compared to that study, and indeed a number of its conclusions are similar. We recommend that interested readers consider both analyses while developing a better understanding of the underlying drivers of ACO performance.

TRACK

As shown in Figures 1A through 2B above, there has been substantial shifting in the distribution of ACOs by track in 2020. As of 2018, approximately 80% of ACOs were in Track 1, while by 2020 that number dropped to just over 25%. While some of this shift was Track 1 ACOs moving to Basic A or Basic B, there have nevertheless been substantial shifts between levels of risk. We therefore consider it important to examine the distribution of savings rates by risk levels.

In Figure 8, we show the distribution of savings rates for the same groupings of risk levels used in Figures 2A and 2B (No Risk, Low Risk, and High Risk), separately for 2018 and 2020. Over the two years, the figures below demonstrate that there has been a broad pattern of savings rates being higher for ACOs that are taking on risk, as compared to the upside-only ACOs. However, we have not observed a pattern of material savings rates differences between low-risk and high-risk ACOs.

FIGURE 8: GROSS SAVINGS RATE DISTRIBUTION BY MSSP RISK LEVEL

<sup>8</sup> Milliman (August 2021). What predictive analytics can tell us about key drivers of MSSP results: 2021 update. <https://www.milliman.com/-/media/milliman/pdfs/2021-articles/8-25-21-what-predictive-analytics-can-tell-us.ashx>

ACO SIZE

One possible characteristic associated with savings rate variation is ACO size. All else being equal, it is reasonable to expect random noise to have a relatively larger impact on savings rates for small ACOs while larger ACOs have more stable levels of savings.

As shown in Figure 9, actual savings rates for both 2018 and 2020 are broadly consistent with this theoretical expectation, with the largest gains and losses generally being associated with smaller ACOs, and relatively more average outcomes generally being associated with larger ACOs.

We also tracked the savings rates based on the number of providers instead of number of beneficiaries. We show these results below. As you can see in Figure 10, the two sets of graphs broadly parallel each other. Given that we would normally expect the largest ACOs to have more beneficiaries and more providers, and the smallest ACOs to have fewer beneficiaries and fewer providers, this is not surprising.

However, we note that the tables, while broadly similar, are not precisely parallel. For instance, in 2020 the proportion of ACOs with savings rates of 5% or more decreases in each step as the size of providers grows, while this is not the case in Figure 9. Similarly, the 2020 portion of Figure 10 shows a clear maximum number of ACOs with losses in the 40% to 60% size range, while the relationship between size and savings is not nearly as distinct in terms of membership, as shown in Figure 9.

BENCHMARK RATES

ACOs across the country receive substantially different benchmark rates depending on area, mix of member types, and population risk score.

In Figure 11, we observe that the highest benchmark ACOs tend to achieve a wider range of results than lower benchmark ACOs; in particular, there is a higher percentage of ACOs with large gains for the ACOs with the highest 20% of benchmarks.

RISK SCORES

Given that benchmark rates are, in part, a function of risk scores, we examined the population risk scores as well. Here, the PUFs provide normalized CMS-HCC risk scores and member counts separately by Medicare Eligibility Category:

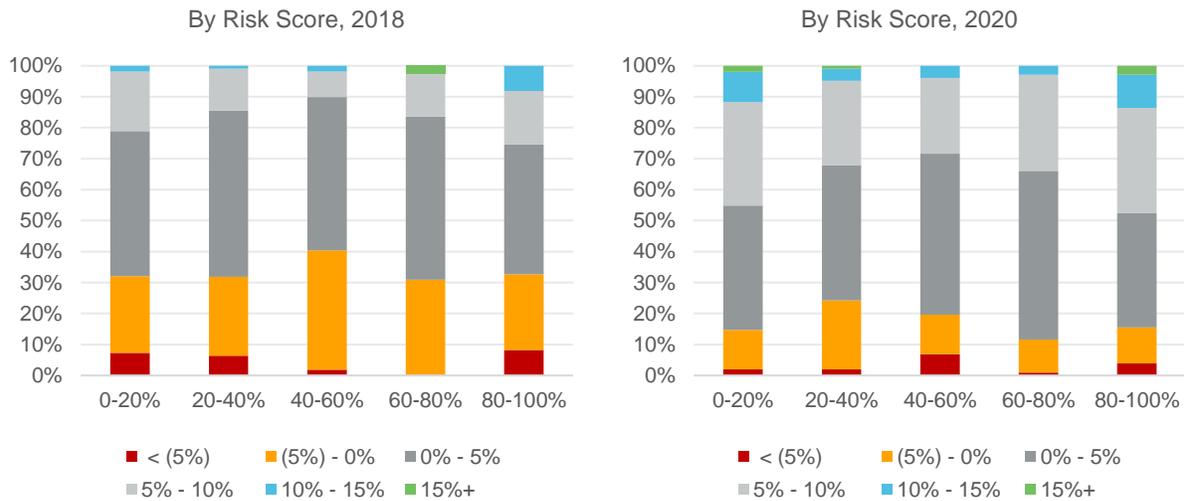

- ESRD
- Disabled
- Aged, Dual
- Aged, Non-Dual

For the purposes of this calculation, we blended the risk scores across categories using member-weighted risk scores. Please note that a more precise calculation would factor in the impact of area as well as the baseline benchmark differences for the four categories.

Here we observe a substantial correlation between large achieved savings rates and higher population risk scores. Unlike the benchmark rates, however, there is no corresponding increase in the rate of ACOs with losses at higher risk scores.

We also note a correlation between large achieved savings rates and particularly low population risk scores. In the event that savings were driven by coding patterns, or by a handful of ACOs focusing on high-cost diseases for selected population groups, we might expect savings to be greatest for the highest risk score ACOs and lowest for the lowest risk score ACOs. Instead, we observe a pattern more like an inverted V; ACOs with highest risk scores or the lowest risk scores tend to have greater savings, and the ACOs with middling risk scores tend to have lesser savings.

LOW/HIGH REVENUE

Per the December 21, 2018, Pathways to Success final rule and press release from CMS, an ACO is designated as low or high revenue based on the ratio of the revenue of its ACO participating providers as compared to the total Medicare expenditures of the ACO's assigned beneficiaries; if the ratio is 35% or higher, the ACO is designated as "high revenue," and if it is under 35%, it is designated as "low revenue."<sup>9</sup>

<sup>9</sup> Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (December 2018). Fact Sheet: Final Rule Creates Pathways to Success for the Medicare Shared Savings Program. Retrieved October 4, 2021, from: <https://www.cms.gov/newsroom/fact-sheets/final-rule-creates-pathways-success-medicare-shared-savings-program>

CMS further noted that “low-revenue ACOs (which are typically composed of physician practices and rural hospitals) outperform high-revenue ACOs (typically ACOs that include hospitals).” We have analyzed the PUF data split by low versus high revenue designation and have observed a similar pattern. Figure 13 below shows the distribution of savings rates by low-revenue versus high-revenue ACOs; the low-revenue ACOs have substantially more ACOs with 5% to 10%, 10% to 15%, and 15%+ savings rates, and substantially fewer ACOs with negative savings rates.

INITIAL START DATE/DURATION

Another potentially relevant contributor to savings is duration of time in MSSP. It can take new ACOs some time to reach performance levels that would result in positive savings; additionally, for longer-term ACOs there may be some survivor bias, as the lowest performing ACOs are likelier to have left the program.

In Figure 14, we tracked the savings rate distribution sorted by initial start date. The left-most column is the 2012 start date, the right-most three columns are the most recent start dates (current year, prior year, two years prior), and the second column from the left represents all other time periods.

In this chart, we can see that the longest-tenured ACOs (2012 start date) have done particularly well; meanwhile, there is no clear relative pattern of over- or under-achievement for ACOs in their first, second, or third year.

However, we note that the 2018 cohort achieved lower savings rates than other cohorts in both 2018 and 2020. The 2018 cohort was the last set of ACOs that was grandfathered into Tracks 1, 2, and 3, which did not have a regional adjustment component on the first contract period. It is possible that this drove some of the observed results for this cohort.

QUALITY

We also note that quality scores can impact net savings. As noted in CMS’s documentation, the final (net) shared savings rate is the product of the quality score and the gross sharing rate.<sup>10</sup>

However, we considered it possible that there would be an additional association between quality scores and gross savings. We therefore tested the relationship between quality scores and gross savings rates based on the 2018 and 2020 data, as shown in Figure 15. As you can see, we did not observe a strong relationship between quality scores and achieved gross savings rates. In particular, we note that in 2018, ACOs that received a 1.0 quality score did relatively worse than the other observed cohorts on a gross savings basis.

We also note that there was a substantial increase to the quality scores between 2018 and 2020, as well as a substantial increase in the overall savings rate in the same time period. These increases were at least in part due to the COVID-19 pandemic (savings rate) as well as the exemptions and modifications introduced during the COVID-19 pandemic (quality scores).

However, in neither 2018 nor 2020 was there a clear relationship between achieved quality score and achieved savings rate inside of either time period.

To further illustrate the relationship between quality score and gross savings, Figure 16 shows the breakdown of savings and quality measures separately for low-revenue and high-revenue plans. Part of the apparent inverse relationship between quality and gross savings in 2018 may be a function of the low-revenue plans (which typically had higher levels of gross savings) tending to have lower quality scores, and the high-revenue plans (which typically had lower levels of gross savings) tending to have higher quality scores.

Here we note the distinction between gross savings and net savings, as quality scores are a direct factor in the net savings amounts. Therefore, even if there is no apparent relationship between quality and gross savings, there may be one with net savings.

We also note that in 2018, a quality score of 1 for both low-revenue and high-revenue plans was associated with average savings rates barely over 0%. This pattern did not repeat in 2020.

Limitations and data reliance

The results contained in this report were compiled using data and information available in the CMS PUFs. This data was retrieved as of October 4, 2021, from CMS's database.

The information was relied upon as reported and without audit. We performed a limited review of the data for reasonableness and consistency. To the extent that the data reported contained material errors or omissions, the values contained within this report would likewise contain similar reporting errors.

This report is intended for informational purposes only. Milliman makes no representations or warranties regarding the contents of this report. Likewise, readers of this report are instructed that they are to place no reliance upon this report that would result in the creation of any duty or liability under any theory of law by Milliman or its employees to third parties.
