Milliman announces opening of an office in Belgium

New office in Brussels adds to global consulting firm's growing presence in Europe

Seattle – February 2, 2012 – Milliman Inc., a leading global consulting and actuarial firm, today announced the opening of a new office in Brussels, Belgium.

"By adding an office in Brussels, we expand and support our current presence throughout the Benelux market", says Laurens Roodbol, who is responsible for Milliman's insurance practices in Amsterdam and Brussels. "It also reflects our desire to deliver cutting edge services and intellectual capital, to help insurers meet the challenges created by the economic climate and regulatory changes."

The Brussels office is headed by Kurt Lambrechts, who has fifteen years of working experience as a life insurance actuary and risk manager in a major Belgian bank insurance group. Mr. Lambrechts is also an active member of the Institute of Actuaries in Belgium (IA|BE) and chairs their Education Committee.

The consultants in the new office will operate as part of the European Milliman team, which includes 250 consultants. Milliman's Benelux team in Brussels will focus on risk modelling and ERM (Enterprise Risk Management), implementation of Solvency II and ALM (Asset Liability Management).

The contact details of the new office are:
